

ASEAN morning bytes

General market tone: Risk off.

Investors will likely keep sidelined awaiting the Fed's dot plot later in the week with protracted Brexit drama and poor economic data out from China giving traders all the incentive to remain defensive.

International theme: Markets to remain sidelined ahead of the Fed meeting

- The key event for the week remains the Fed dot plot graph with investors gauging whether the FOMC will indeed formalize their more dovish slant in 2019.

EM Space: Emerging markets to keep to the sidelines awaiting the Fed's dot plot

- General Asia: Investors will likely remain in a holding pattern awaiting the outlook of the FOMC for rates in 2019 while geopolitical concerns and a sputtering China all seen adding to risk aversion. Energy prices slid further with traders bracing for slowing economic growth next year.
- Singapore: Despite a welcome bounce in electronics, Singapore's Non-Oil Domestic Exports (NODX) for November fell 2.6% from a year ago. The likely pass-through to November industrial production suggests that Singapore is finishing the year on a soft note and further tightening of monetary policy in April 2019 looks doubtful.

- Indonesia: Indonesia reports November data for trade with Bloomberg forecasts showing single-digit growth in exports while imports are expected to grow by 11%. This would translate to a trade gap of roughly $790 million, less than half of the previous month as import compression continues to kick in.
- Philippines: The Philippine central bank reported January-September Balance of Payment numbers showing a deficit of $5.1bn with the current account deficit widening substantially to $6.47bn or 2.7% of GDP. The larger than expected deficit was traced to the surge in imports of goods which surged by 43.5%. As a percent of GDP, the current account deficit is 2.7%, three times higher than forecast.

What to look out for: Fed meeting

- Singapore non-oil exports (17 December)
- Indonesia trade (17 December)
- EU inflation (17 December)
- Philippines OF remittances (17 December)
- Hong Kong unemployment (18 December)
- US housing starts (18 December)
- Japan trade (18 December)
- Malaysia inflation (19 December)
- Thailand trade (19 December)
- Fed dot plot (19 December)
- BoE meeting (20 December)
- BoJ meeting (20 December)

Author

Nicholas Mapa

Senior Economist, Philippines

nicholas.antonio.mapa@asia.ing.com

Disclaimer

This publication has been prepared by the Economic and Financial Analysis Division of ING Bank N.V. ("ING") solely for information purposes without regard to any particular user's investment objectives, financial situation, or means. ING forms part of ING Group (being for this purpose ING Group N.V. and its subsidiary and affiliated companies). The information in the publication is not an investment recommendation and it is not investment, legal or tax advice or an offer or solicitation to purchase or sell any financial instrument. Reasonable care has been taken to ensure that this publication is not untrue or misleading when published, but ING does not represent that it is accurate or complete. ING does not accept any liability for any direct, indirect or consequential loss arising from any use of this publication. Unless otherwise stated, any views, forecasts, or estimates are solely those of the author(s), as of the date of the publication and are subject to change without notice.

The distribution of this publication may be restricted by law or regulation in different jurisdictions and persons into whose possession this publication comes should inform themselves about, and observe, such restrictions.

Copyright and database rights protection exists in this report and it may not be reproduced, distributed or published by any person for any purpose without the prior express consent of ING. All rights are reserved. ING Bank N.V. is authorised by the Dutch Central Bank and supervised by the European Central Bank (ECB), the Dutch Central Bank (DNB) and the Dutch Authority for the Financial Markets (AFM). ING Bank N.V. is incorporated in the Netherlands (Trade Register no. 33031431 Amsterdam). In the United Kingdom this information is approved and/or communicated by ING Bank N.V., London Branch. ING Bank N.V., London Branch is authorised by the Prudential Regulation Authority and is subject to regulation by the Financial Conduct Authority and limited regulation by the Prudential Regulation Authority. ING Bank N.V., London branch is registered in England (Registration number BR000341) at 8-10 Moorgate, London EC2 6DA. For US Investors: Any person wishing to discuss this report or effect transactions in any security discussed herein should contact ING Financial Markets LLC, which is a member of the NYSE, FINRA and SIPC and part of ING, and which has accepted responsibility for the distribution of this report in the United States under applicable requirements.

Additional information is available on request. For more information about ING Group, please visit <http://www.ing.com>.