

ASEAN Morning Bytes

General market tone: Risk-off.

Market players will head for cover with global growth concerns taking center stage.

EM Space: Declining Treasury yields send dealers scurrying for safety

- General Asia: Mounting fears for a global turndown sparked broad risk-off tone with traders seeing Treasury yields slide further. US GDP numbers reported on Friday will likely see growth slow substantially after the US-China trade war continues to bite.
- Thailand: The BoT's Deputy Governor Mathee Supaongse told media that the central bank wasn't overly concerned about the impact of politics on the economy. He acknowledged growing external risks to the Thai economy but said the central bank would focus on domestic conditions to set interest rates. We believe the balance of risks to the BoT policy is tilted towards an easing rather than tightening this year.
- Malaysia: The BNM announced a relaxation of foreign exchange rules, extending the hedging period for residents' foreign currency obligations to 12 months to enable businesses to better manage their long-term foreign currency exposure. The new regulation also allows small and medium enterprises with net import obligation in the global supply chain of goods and services to receive payment in foreign currency from resident exporters. The relaxation should sustain the Malaysian ringgit (MYR) among outperformer Asian currencies.

- Indonesia: Bank Indonesia forecasts inflation for the year to average slightly above 3% compared to the 2.5-4.5% target band according to Senior Deputy Governor Mirza Adityaswara. Furthermore, the central bank forecasts the current account to improve in 1Q 2019 from the previous quarter after the economy started posting trade surpluses in January on the back of import compression.
- Philippines: The Department of Finance warns that growth will likely slow to 6.1-6.3% given the delay in the budget for the year with members of the legislative squabbling over the allotments. Given the delay and the looming election ban, government spending has been curtailed and will unlikely be able to provide the extra boost for GDP growth.

What to look out for: US China trade talks in Beijing

- US core PCE and GDP (28 March)
- Fed George, Clarida, Quarles, Bowman and Bostic give speeches (28 March)

Author

Nicholas Mapa

Senior Economist, Philippines

nicholas.antonio.mapa@asia.ing.com

Disclaimer

This publication has been prepared by the Economic and Financial Analysis Division of ING Bank N.V. ("ING") solely for information purposes without regard to any particular user's investment objectives, financial situation, or means. ING forms part of ING Group (being for this purpose ING Group N.V. and its subsidiary and affiliated companies). The information in the publication is not an investment recommendation and it is not investment, legal or tax advice or an offer or solicitation to purchase or sell any financial instrument. Reasonable care has been taken to ensure that this publication is not untrue or misleading when published, but ING does not represent that it is accurate or complete. ING does not accept any liability for any direct, indirect or consequential loss arising from any use of this publication. Unless otherwise stated, any views, forecasts, or estimates are solely those of the author(s), as of the date of the publication and are subject to change without notice.

The distribution of this publication may be restricted by law or regulation in different jurisdictions and persons into whose possession this publication comes should inform themselves about, and observe, such restrictions.

Copyright and database rights protection exists in this report and it may not be reproduced, distributed or published by any person for any purpose without the prior express consent of ING. All rights are reserved. ING Bank N.V. is authorised by the Dutch Central Bank and supervised by the European Central Bank (ECB), the Dutch Central Bank (DNB) and the Dutch Authority for the Financial Markets (AFM). ING Bank N.V. is incorporated in the Netherlands (Trade Register no. 33031431 Amsterdam). In the United Kingdom this information is approved and/or communicated by ING Bank N.V., London Branch. ING Bank N.V., London Branch is authorised by the Prudential Regulation Authority and is subject to regulation by the Financial Conduct Authority and limited regulation by the Prudential Regulation Authority. ING Bank N.V., London branch is registered in England (Registration number BR000341) at 8-10 Moorgate, London EC2 6DA. For US Investors: Any person wishing to discuss this report or effect transactions in any security discussed herein should contact ING Financial Markets LLC, which is a member of the NYSE, FINRA and SIPC and part of ING, and which has accepted responsibility for the distribution of this report in the United States under applicable requirements.

Additional information is available on request. For more information about ING Group, please visit <http://www.ing.com>.