

Watch: Our key takeaways from New York Climate Week

The extremity of severe weather events across the globe has officially sounded the alarm for the need to act faster against climate change on a global scale. But which areas should we look to first to navigate such complex challenges? In this video, ING's Coco Zhang delves into the key takeaways from New York Climate Week for answers

Our key takeaways from New York Climate Week

Watch video

If New York Climate Week has brought home one key message, it's that the urgency to act in the battle against climate change is now more powerful than ever. The spotlight remains largely on the importance of reducing risks presented by extreme weather events now being witnessed across continents – but how exactly can this be achieved?

The summer of 2023 was the hottest seen since NASA began recording in 1880, and as temperatures escalate, so does the pressure for constructive solutions against a rather unsettling backdrop of heightened economic uncertainty across the globe. From the shift towards future-proof decarbonisation efforts to crucial policy support for infrastructure expansion, ING's

Coco Zhang points to a few key takeaways from New York Climate Week that could help in navigating the immense challenge presented by the climate crisis – and ensuring that future generations can continue to thrive on planet Earth.

Author

Coco Zhang

ESG Research

coco.zhang@ing.com

Disclaimer

This publication has been prepared by the Economic and Financial Analysis Division of ING Bank N.V. (“ING”) solely for information purposes without regard to any particular user's investment objectives, financial situation, or means. ING forms part of ING Group (being for this purpose ING Group N.V. and its subsidiary and affiliated companies). The information in the publication is not an investment recommendation and it is not investment, legal or tax advice or an offer or solicitation to purchase or sell any financial instrument. Reasonable care has been taken to ensure that this publication is not untrue or misleading when published, but ING does not represent that it is accurate or complete. ING does not accept any liability for any direct, indirect or consequential loss arising from any use of this publication. Unless otherwise stated, any views, forecasts, or estimates are solely those of the author(s), as of the date of the publication and are subject to change without notice.

The distribution of this publication may be restricted by law or regulation in different jurisdictions and persons into whose possession this publication comes should inform themselves about, and observe, such restrictions.

Copyright and database rights protection exists in this report and it may not be reproduced, distributed or published by any person for any purpose without the prior express consent of ING. All rights are reserved. ING Bank N.V. is authorised by the Dutch Central Bank and supervised by the European Central Bank (ECB), the Dutch Central Bank (DNB) and the Dutch Authority for the Financial Markets (AFM). ING Bank N.V. is incorporated in the Netherlands (Trade Register no. 33031431 Amsterdam). In the United Kingdom this information is approved and/or communicated by ING Bank N.V., London Branch. ING Bank N.V., London Branch is authorised by the Prudential Regulation Authority and is subject to regulation by the Financial Conduct Authority and limited regulation by the Prudential Regulation Authority. ING Bank N.V., London branch is registered in England (Registration number BR000341) at 8-10 Moorgate, London EC2 6DA. For US Investors: Any person wishing to discuss this report or effect transactions in any security discussed herein should contact ING Financial Markets LLC, which is a member of the NYSE, FINRA and SIPC and part of ING, and which has accepted responsibility for the distribution of this report in the United States under applicable requirements.

Additional information is available on request. For more information about ING Group, please visit www.ing.com.