Listen: Biden - His Time?

America is facing a national crisis. Grippled by mass protests over the police killing of George Floyd and a pandemic which has killed thousands and ravaged the economy, President Trump must overcome historic challenges to win the election in November. In this podcast, ING's James Knightley looks at how the race could unfold

Mass protests over the police killing of George Floyd, 100,000 deaths from the coronavirus pandemic, an unprecedented economic downturn and 40 million of Americans out of work. Rarely has an election year looked this bad for a sitting US president. And yet the outcome remains unpredictable, with no guarantee that Democrat rival Joe Biden will win in November. In this podcast, ING's Chief International Economist James Knightley tells Senior Editor Rebecca Byrne how the turmoil could influence the race to the White House.
