

Snap | 17 December 2018

Austrian inflation remains stable despite the recent oil price drop

While the price increase in fuel prices was weaker than in October, resulting in significantly cheaper airline tickets, package holidays saw a significant price jump. Add to that rising costs for housing, water and energy and the inflation rate remains stable at 2.2% year-over-year in November

Source: Shutterstock

Once again, daily life became more expensive. The micro basket, or out-of-the-pocket inflation measure, which represents typical daily shopping purchases such as food, newspapers or coffee in a café, increased by 0.2% year-over-year in November. The mini basket, containing not only weekly purchases but also fuels, rose by 4.5% year-over-year in November compared to 4.9% in October.

According to the harmonised European definition, headline inflation came in at 2.3% YoY, a slight drop compared to 2.4% YoY in October.

All in all, Austrian consumers probably have to deal with a harmonised inflation rate of 2.1% for the year. With Christmas around the corner, spending for leisure, culture, and restaurants will not abate. Yet, with the family bonus kicking in in January, a robust job market, and an ongoing favourable environment, private consumption expenditure remains on a stable basis, contributing to GDP growth also in the new year.

Snap | 17 December 2018

Author

Inga Fechner

Senior Economist, Germany, Global Trade inga.fechner@ing.de

Disclaimer

This publication has been prepared by the Economic and Financial Analysis Division of ING Bank N.V. ("ING") solely for information purposes without regard to any particular user's investment objectives, financial situation, or means. ING forms part of ING Group (being for this purpose ING Group N.V. and its subsidiary and affiliated companies). The information in the publication is not an investment recommendation and it is not investment, legal or tax advice or an offer or solicitation to purchase or sell any financial instrument. Reasonable care has been taken to ensure that this publication is not untrue or misleading when published, but ING does not represent that it is accurate or complete. ING does not accept any liability for any direct, indirect or consequential loss arising from any use of this publication. Unless otherwise stated, any views, forecasts, or estimates are solely those of the author(s), as of the date of the publication and are subject to change without notice.

The distribution of this publication may be restricted by law or regulation in different jurisdictions and persons into whose possession this publication comes should inform themselves about, and observe, such restrictions.

Copyright and database rights protection exists in this report and it may not be reproduced, distributed or published by any person for any purpose without the prior express consent of ING. All rights are reserved. ING Bank N.V. is authorised by the Dutch Central Bank and supervised by the European Central Bank (ECB), the Dutch Central Bank (DNB) and the Dutch Authority for the Financial Markets (AFM). ING Bank N.V. is incorporated in the Netherlands (Trade Register no. 33031431 Amsterdam). In the United Kingdom this information is approved and/or communicated by ING Bank N.V., London Branch. ING Bank N.V., London Branch is authorised by the Prudential Regulation Authority and is subject to regulation by the Financial Conduct Authority and limited regulation by the Prudential Regulation Authority. ING Bank N.V., London branch is registered in England (Registration number BR000341) at 8-10 Moorgate, London EC2 6DA. For US Investors: Any person wishing to discuss this report or effect transactions in any security discussed herein should contact ING Financial Markets LLC, which is a member of the NYSE, FINRA and SIPC and part of ING, and which has accepted responsibility for the distribution of this report in the United States under applicable requirements.

Additional information is available on request. For more information about ING Group, please visit www.ing.com.

Snap | 17 December 2018 2