

Philippines' central bank hikes rates after blowout CPI report

Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas hiked rates by 50bp today after inflation surged to 8.7% year-on-year in January

The Central Bank of the Philippines and other buildings as seen from the CCP Grounds

Source: Shutterstock

6.0% BSP policy rate
+50bp

As expected

BSP stays aggressive after inflation surprise

Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) hiked rates by 50bp today in a bid to combat searing price pressures and to manage inflation expectations. January inflation blew past expectations which all but ensured BSP would hike rates today. Governor Felipe Medalla opted to retain a hawkish bias with a 50bp increase.

BSP also announced an upward adjustment to the 2023 inflation forecast, pushing its expectation to 6.1% YoY, up sharply from the 4.5% estimate from December 2022. Price pressures appear to have spread across the CPI basket and could keep headline and core inflation elevated for some time.

Medalla noted that inflation expectations have begun to increase, prompting an aggressive response from the BSP today. BSP also reiterated the need for a “whole of government approach” to deal with significant price pressures given the outsized impact of supply shortages on basic food items. Today’s rate hike takes the overnight reverse repurchase rate to 6.0%.

[illegible]

Source: Philippine Statistics Authority

What's next?

BSP's latest inflation forecast and admission that price pressure has broadened could open the door for additional rate hikes in the coming months. Governor Medalla appears to be increasingly concerned about inflation expectations, indicating that "it is unlikely we won't increase the rate at the next meeting". Medalla suggested that the probability of a pause in the first half of the year was feasible but low indicating that inflation pressures remain high and that supply-side remedies recently implemented may take time to take hold.

Given this new information and the obvious shift in tone from Governor Medalla, we now expect a 25bp rate hike by the BSP at the March meeting with our forecast for BSP's terminal rate at 6.25%.

Author

Nicholas Mapa

Senior Economist, Philippines

nicholas.antonio.mapa@asia.inq.com

Disclaimer

This publication has been prepared by the Economic and Financial Analysis Division of ING Bank N.V. ("ING") solely for information purposes without regard to any particular user's investment objectives, financial situation, or means. ING forms part of ING Group (being for this purpose ING Group N.V. and its subsidiary and affiliated companies). The information in the publication is not an investment recommendation and it is not investment, legal or tax advice or an offer or solicitation to purchase or sell any financial instrument. Reasonable care has been taken to ensure that this publication is not untrue or misleading when published, but ING does not represent that it is accurate or complete. ING does not accept any liability for any direct, indirect or consequential loss arising from any use of this publication. Unless otherwise stated, any views, forecasts, or estimates are solely those of the author(s), as of the date of the publication and are subject to change without notice.

The distribution of this publication may be restricted by law or regulation in different jurisdictions and persons into whose possession this publication comes should inform themselves about, and observe, such restrictions.

Copyright and database rights protection exists in this report and it may not be reproduced, distributed or published by any person for any purpose without the prior express consent of ING. All rights are reserved. ING Bank N.V. is authorised by the Dutch Central Bank and supervised by the European Central Bank (ECB), the Dutch Central Bank (DNB) and the Dutch Authority for the Financial Markets (AFM). ING Bank N.V. is incorporated in the Netherlands (Trade Register no. 33031431 Amsterdam). In the United Kingdom this information is approved and/or communicated by ING Bank N.V., London Branch. ING Bank N.V., London Branch is authorised by the Prudential Regulation Authority and is subject to regulation by the Financial Conduct Authority and limited regulation by the Prudential Regulation Authority. ING Bank N.V., London branch is registered in England (Registration number BR000341) at 8-10 Moorgate, London EC2 6DA. For US Investors: Any person wishing to discuss this report or effect transactions in any security discussed herein should contact ING Financial Markets LLC, which is a member of the NYSE, FINRA and SIPC and part of ING, and which has accepted responsibility for the distribution of this report in the United States under applicable requirements.

Additional information is available on request. For more information about ING Group, please visit <http://www.ing.com>.