

Philippines: Remittances surprise again, up 7.8% in July

Filipinos based abroad sent home more remittances in July as lockdowns were eased in host countries

Source: Shutterstock

7.8% July OF remittance growth

Higher than expected

July remittances post surprise 7.8% increase

Overseas Filipinos (OFs) defied expectations for a second month with remittances sent home from abroad rising by 7.8% in July. Most analysts had expected remittance flows to contract given challenging labour market conditions in host countries and given the fact that more than 170,000 OFs have returned to the Philippines over the course of the past few months. OFs sent total of $2.78 bn worth of remittances back to the Philippines, bringing the year-to-date haul to $16.8 bn, down 2.4% from the same period ago.

Lockdowns lifted and broad Dollar weakness

The surprise jump in remittances may be traced to the lifting of strict lockdowns in host countries, which allowed OFs to return to work and remit funds after being trapped in their homes for an extended period of time. In terms of type of OF, sea-based OF remittances (22% of total) fell by 9.2% with freight and cruise liners not likely operating at pre-pandemic levels but land-based workers compensated by sending home 12.6% in July. One other reason for the 7.8% increase in remittances could be traced to exchange rate nuances with the US dollar retreating significantly against global currencies, inflating remittances sent home in EUR and JPY in dollar terms.

Philippines overseas Filipino remittances

Source: BSP

Trend or no trend?

The gain in July remittances marks the second month of gain for a sector that was expected to struggle given the pandemic. We continue to pencil in a return to weakness or at best a moderating in the growth posted in the past 2 months as job market challenges and layoffs make it difficult for OFs to send home more funds in the coming months. Despite the projected weakness in remittance growth, PHP should remain well-supported as the current account remains in surplus due to the freefall in imports. Should remittance growth continue to surprise on the upside, we expect only modest appreciation pressure as BSP will likely take the opportunity to build up its gross international reserves past the $100 bn mark.

Author

Nicholas Mapa

Senior Economist, Philippines

nicholas.antonio.mapa@asia.ing.com

Disclaimer

This publication has been prepared by the Economic and Financial Analysis Division of ING Bank N.V. (“ING”) solely for information purposes without regard to any particular user’s investment objectives, financial situation, or means. ING forms part of ING Group (being for this purpose ING Group N.V. and its subsidiary and affiliated companies). The information in the publication is not an investment recommendation and it is not investment, legal or tax advice or an offer or solicitation to purchase or sell any financial instrument. Reasonable care has been taken to ensure that this publication is not untrue or misleading when published, but ING does not represent that it is accurate or complete. ING does not accept any liability for any direct, indirect or consequential loss arising from any use of this publication. Unless otherwise stated, any views, forecasts, or estimates are solely those of the author(s), as of the date of the publication and are subject to change without notice.

The distribution of this publication may be restricted by law or regulation in different jurisdictions and persons into whose possession this publication comes should inform themselves about, and observe, such restrictions.

Copyright and database rights protection exists in this report and it may not be reproduced, distributed or published by any person for any purpose without the prior express consent of ING. All rights are reserved. ING Bank N.V. is authorised by the Dutch Central Bank and supervised by the European Central Bank (ECB), the Dutch Central Bank (DNB) and the Dutch Authority for the Financial Markets (AFM). ING Bank N.V. is incorporated in the Netherlands (Trade Register no. 33031431 Amsterdam). In the United Kingdom this information is approved and/or communicated by ING Bank N.V., London Branch. ING Bank N.V., London Branch is authorised by the Prudential Regulation Authority and is subject to regulation by the Financial Conduct Authority and limited regulation by the Prudential Regulation Authority. ING Bank N.V., London branch is registered in England (Registration number BR000341) at 8-10 Moorgate, London EC2 6DA. For US Investors: Any person wishing to discuss this report or effect transactions in any security discussed herein should contact ING Financial Markets LLC, which is a member of the NYSE, FINRA and SIPC and part of ING, and which has accepted responsibility for the distribution of this report in the United States under applicable requirements.

Additional information is available on request. For more information about ING Group, please visit <http://www.ing.com>.